

red flower

flower candles, soaps and teas

red is everywhere.
flowers are everything.
take time.
red flower

why red flower?

red flower is both full and empty. it is silent and good. it is very simple. it is what you are most surrounded by, but perhaps do not see. see it. smell it. breathe it. love it. feel it. red flower believes in always looking and trying to find. the line is created on the basic principles of ritual, celebration, wellness, integrity and aesthetic.

red flower encourages the enjoyment of simple experiences and celebrates life through the purity and freshness of flowers. each product is created to smell alive and complete and to offer a quiet ritual. this is an experience of beauty. this is a moment of happiness.

enter a world simple, beautiful and fresh. feel recognize love. know red. smell flowers. the

- flower candle with scented petals

pure flower fragrance fills a room with the intense scent of just-picked flowers. cotton wick and natural wax with a slow, clean burn. net. wt. 6 ounces. 45 - 50 hour burn time. topped with scented petals which can be emptied into the prayer bowl to subtly scent a room.

- little flower candles little, but intense. pure flower fragrance to fill a room with the scent of everything simple and beautiful and alive. packaged in take-anywhere, film-size boxes with light-my-flower matches. cotton wick and natural wax with a slow, clean burn. net. wt. 1.5 ounces. 15 hour burn time.

- little flower candle gift sets little flower candles in perfectly generous gift packs. six or three to a set.

- prayer bowl

the prayer bowl is a pure copper bowl that is hand-spun and stamped. traditionally used in a hindu flower offering ceremony where a small copper bowl is filled with flowers to attract goodness with scent.

alive. touch something real. believe in intimacy. red flower offering:

- flower soaps

for the touch, they contain honey, fresh flower extracts and essential oils in a vegetable base. in a perfectly round shape, inspired by the reflexology balls used in chinese medicine to offer a massage and stimulate circulation while washing. 3.5 ounces. lasts for more than 100 washes. packaged with a white porcelain dish.

- flower soap gift sets

six flower soaps sweetly packaged together, each with its own white porcelain dish. in spring colors for creating a garden wherever you place them.

- flower teas

lavender, jasmine and rose. each of these organic teas are hand blended by red flower for flavor and purity. each blend offers benefits both nutritive and spiritual to enhance the appreciation of a moment. drink beauty. taste flowers. certified organic. yields 40-60 glasses. packaged in a tube for freshness. net. wt. 1/4 lb.

- bombillas

the bombilla is a straw created to draw liquid to the lips. the perforated bulb on the end is a strainer which is designed to strain petals and leaves while sipping. simply slip the bombilla (bom-bee-jah) into the flowery infusion, stir and sip. available in stainless steel or individually packaged silver bombilla.

• moroccan rose

scent: moroccan red roses unfolding and sensual like deep well-water and quiet velvet.
essential oil blend: rose otto, bulgarian rose, damascus rose and moroccan rose.
feel: an aphrodisiac, un-hushed and night-fevered.
burn: throughout the evening, until the sun slowly rises.
petals: scatter over pillows to make a bed of roses.
wash: with both hands and a full heart.
species: love. to love and to love.

moroccan rose

flower soap with porcelain dish.
 flower candle with scented petals.
 little flower candle with matches.

• north american lilac

scent: purely the smell of early and sweet summer at dusk.
essential oil blend: hyacinth, sweet william, forget-me-nots and north american lilac.
feel: those seconds of summer that feel like little birds feel when sheltered by rain-heavy, fragrant, purple blossoms.
burn: to permeate everything with summer-sun and wet bunches of lilac fresh and alive from the garden.
petals: fill a little cloth sachet to scent a secret drawer.
wash: through fingers and over hands for lilac scented fingertips.
species: early summer. early summer's may flower, also known as the 'blue-pipe,' in allusion to its hollowed-out stems which were used for pipe making.

north american lilac

flower soap with porcelain dish.
 flower candle with scented petals.
 little flower candle with matches.

• indian jasmine

scent: the fragrance of night, intense heady and thick.

essential oil blend: jasmine sambac, neroli, ylang-ylang, tangerine and indian jasmine.

feel: the seductive, silent flowers in circles of sharing.

burn: to induce warmth, to transcend wherever.

petals: place in a prayer bowl to make an offering of generosity next to a burning jasmine candle.

wash: in a circular pattern over the whole body to lull with water into a quiet trance.

species: moonlight. it is moonlight over the jasmine flower until dawn.

indian jasmine

- flower soap with porcelain dish.
- flower candle with scented petals.
- little flower candle with matches.

• thai honeysuckle

scent: a clean, green, alive, light-honeyed sweetness.

essential oil blend: melissa flower, camellia, lemon flower and thai honeysuckle.

feel: days of embracing, like leafy vines around cool, shady trees.

burn: all day in search of a pleasant, simple world.

petals: toss into a suitcase to freshen a long journey.

wash: to refresh the body with cool cleansing while trying to wake for the day.

species: honey. to reach up and smell its honey-green scent is to understand the hummingbird and summer's fresh, green embrace.

thai honeysuckle

- flower soap with porcelain dish.
- flower candle with scented petals.
- little flower candle with matches.

• egyptian chamomile

scent: gentle and tea soft with notes of apple familiar.

essential oil blend: tea absolute, apple blossom, guaiac wood and egyptian chamomile.

feel: soothing, calming, warming, quieting.

burn: to float into ambient dreams.

petals: toss into a warm bath to quiet the body into sleep.

wash: gently over the body to reduce tension and induce relaxation in the bath.

species: sleep. it feels like, it smells like, it sounds like, it is sleep.

egyptian chamomile

flower soap with porcelain dish.

flower candle with scented petals.

little flower candle with matches.

• french lavender

scent: the bluest smell, the herby earth of cool dry soil, the balsam of wood, clean, perfect and forever.

essential oil blend: lavender petite, peppermint, rosemary and french lavender.

feel: balancing, inspiring, simple and pure.

burn: for a lingering sense of peace and clarity.

petals: reach for a handful and inhale deeply for a moment of clarity.

wash: to turn a morning shower into lavender fields, awake and clear.

species: pure. rocked in the high altitudes and low breezes of provence until it blooms alive and fresh.

french lavender

flower soap with porcelain dish.

flower candle with scented petals.

little flower candle with matches.

• italian blood orange scent: a bright blend of the citrus-sweet flower, tangy juice and sharp rosy rind.

essential oil blend: orange blossom, grapefruit, blood orange rind and italian blood orange.

feel: everyone who has seen it, touched it, smelled it – wants it. it is just that smell, that scent, that mood you want to be in.

burn: to engage the senses and wake up a room in the morning, in the fall, in the winter, in the sun, at dusk and at daybreak.

petals: simply make a wish and blow into the wind.

wash: to stimulate pulse points on hands and feet and feel the tingle of refreshment.

species: life. to always be that wonderful and wild and free.

italian blood orange

- flower soap with porcelain dish.
- flower candle with scented petals.
- little flower candle with matches.

• himalayan larch

scent: crisp, deep, snow-covered forest.

essential oil blend: oakmoss, juniper berry, pine needle extract and himalayan larch.

feel: profound and infinite woods, tree upon tree, soft echo upon soft echo.

burn: to bring outside, inside.

petals: place in a quiet chest of wool blankets and feather things to scent all year long.

wash: like a snowball that fits perfectly in the palm of your hands.

species: snowfall. the quietness of snowflakes in their descent, assembling themselves into a blanket.

himalayan larch

- flower soap with porcelain dish.
- flower candle with scented petals.
- little flower candle with matches.

• japanese peony

scent: a gloriously full, lemon-rose scent; delicate and soft.
essential oil blend: bulgarian rose, lily-of-the-valley, lemon blossom and japanese peony.
feel: the dream of a pink butterfly.
burn: to create grace, softness and beauty.
petals: weave around plates, over spoons, between glasses and under a wedding tent to turn a party pink.
wash: with the hands of a princess in the bath of an emperor.
species: beauty. once upon an ancient japanese time, in a peony garden under the moon, there is a legend of subtle charm and quiet honor.

japanese peony

flower soap with porcelain dish.
 flower candle with scented petals.
 little flower candle with matches.

• african lily

scent: alluring and abundant Nile-spiced flower.
essential oil blend: iris absolute, vanilla bean, clove leaf and african lily.
feel: endless, ever-in-bloom acres of powdery, fairy-like, full-blossomed lilies.
burn: to create a world full of flooding warmth and languorous mood.
petals: send by the fingerfuls in inviting letters to linger scent.
wash: place this round, perfect whiteness everywhere water abundantly washes.
species: sensual. like hundreds of fluttering untamed lilies.

african lily

flower soap with porcelain dish.
 flower candle with scented petals.
 little flower candle with matches.

• spanish gardenia

scent: the permeating scent of the full blossomed, butter-white petaled, softly breathing flower.

essential oil blend: tuberose, jasmine, geranium leaf, and spanish gardenia.

feel: close your eyes. whisper words, sounds, nothing, rain.

burn: to lose yourself in a saturated, seducing, heavy, slow song.

petals: place in a small locket by the heart.

wash: in the quiet rain, to drench the skin in the scent of gardenias.

species: breath. wait for a breeze, listen. it is full of hum and night and flowers.

spanish gardenia

flower soap with porcelain dish.

flower candle with scented petals.

little flower candle with matches.

• icelandic moonflower

scent: the wet earth under a flowing arctic river.

essential oil blend: arctic river flower, sea rocket, cassiope, boronia, apple blossom, and moonflower.

feel: psychedelic and transforming.

burn: to create a misty, winter garden blooming under the light of the moon. to induce an altered state of mind.

petals: roll over fingertips, concentrate, inhale.

wash: with the power of a thousand glacier streams.

species: escape. be far, far away.

icelandic moonflower

flower soap with porcelain dish.

flower candle with scented petals.

little flower candle with matches.

flower teas

make a house, a bird, a nest, a book, a hill, a song, a chair, a blessing, another flower,
 a swing,
 a plum,
 a shoe,
 a bowl,
 a road,
 a vow,
 a bed,
 a ring,
 a star,
 a ball,
 a gift,
 a toy,
 rain,
 a beautiful cup of tea.

• turn water into flowers: place a generous teaspoon of petals in each glass of very hot water. for full flavor, steep at least three minutes before straining or simply sip through a red flower bombilla tea straw. just as pleasant hot or poured over ice. makes approximately 40-60 cups. hand-blended by red flower.

• lavender flower tea

organic blend of pure lavender, clean mint and a hint of rosemary. perfectly balancing, clarifying and caffeine-free. benefits: to clear the mind, balance the body, reduce sleeplessness and aid digestion. drink: to balance and clarify throughout the day and as a perfect after-dinner digestive.

traditional medicinal uses: lavender superior: as an anti-depressant, to reduce headaches, alleviate sleeplessness and to clarify. peppermint & spearmint: calmative to the digestive system. pepperina: balance the nervous system. rosemary: stimulant to the circulatory system.

• jasmine flower green tea organic blend of fresh jasmine flowers and fragrant green tea. mildly-caffeinated for a sweet sense of alertness. benefits: to energize the mind and anti-oxidize the body. drink: for a morning boost or a mild afternoon high.

traditional medicinal uses: green tea: polyphenols naturally occurring in green tea offer anti-oxidizing, energizing and reviving effects. jasmine flowers: an uplifting stimulant.

• rose flower tea

an organic blend of bright rose flowers and buds, tangy hibiscus, and sweet berries. caffeine-free for an all day sweetness. benefits: full of vitamin c which helps revive the immune system and improve circulation. drink: at rose-flowered afternoon tea parties, to slowly sweeten any day, to color an evening with rose martinis or to ice a hot summer afternoon.

traditional medicinal uses: red and pink roses: to enhance the immune system. also known as an aphrodisiac. rose hips: one of the highest forms of vitamin c which in high doses is used to relieve stress and to benefit the immune system. one cup of rose hips has the equivalent amount of vitamin c as sixty oranges. hibiscus: high in vitamin c to fortify the skin and build the immune system. chamomile: commonly used to alleviate sleeplessness. bilberries: high in vitamins a, b, and c. used as an anti-bacterial. elderberries: high in vitamins a and c. aids in the reduction of coughs and colds. hawthorn berries: very high in vitamin c. as an anti-oxidant and a cardi tonic.

bombillas (bom-bee-jah)

- drinking through a bombilla tea-straw

the bombilla is a straw created to draw liquid to the lips. the perforated bulb on the end is a strainer which is designed to strain petals and leaves while sipping. simply slip the bombilla (bom-bee-jah) into the flowery infusion, stir and sip.

available in single stainless steel

- drinking red flower tea

is a blend of two customs, the japanese chado tea-ceremony and the native south-american mate tea sipping. the mate tea is a mix of young leaves and shoots of the evergreen tree. infused in a hollowed-out gourd called a calabaza, it is sipped through a bombilla tea-straw. drinking mate tea is a communal practice in which each person sips the infusion through the bombilla until the water is gone, refills it and hands it to the next person. the chado tea-ceremony is a highly aesthetic ritual that began in 15th century japan. nearly boiling water is then poured from a bamboo water-jar into a matchaia, a ceramic tea-bowl over finely powdered green tea. it is turned three times. it is taken in three sips. upon finishing, the bowl is wiped with a silk cloth three times and placed before the tea-master. all sit quietly. both ceremonies share the practice of preparing with appreciation and experiencing with awareness. both are intended to create complete harmony.

join us

at our store. drink flowers. sip slowly. share.

13 prince street, new york, ny between elizabeth and bowery
212.966.5301

264 canal street 5e nyc ny 10013 usa | office

13 prince street nyc ny 10012 usa | store

www.redflower.com | on-line

takeitme@redflower.com

p 212.966.1994 f 212.966.2180

red flower

